WORK FOR THE FOOL-KILLER.

There is a tradition, handed down from generation to generation for, we do not know how many ages, that there is somewhere in the universe, something called a "fool-killer." [If there is any such a personage anywhere in creation, and he should be turned loose in this country, in this age of superior civilization, great destruction of life would be sure to follow. Last Monday morning, a baker's dozen of athletic men, noted more for their muscular power than mental strength, started to walk in Madison Square Garden, in the city of New York. The man who walked the largest number of miles was to receive as a prize, a belt offered by an English nobleman, and in addition, some thousands in cash. Ten thousand persons were present at that early hour, willing to pay a dollar each to witness the wonderful sight of thirteen men walking around an enclosed circle, over sawdust. The crowd kept up throughout the week, and at times thousands stood outside demanding entrance, but who were excluded for want of room.

The newspapers have pandered to the excitement produced by the pedestrians, and the great journals of New York have devoted columns of their choicest first page space to a relation of all the minute details of the wonderful occurrence. The news gatherers at this centre of civilization have taken it up and telegraphed it to all the daily newspapers of the United States, and sent it across the waters to England, France and Germany. The newspapers have published it, the people have read it, and it is talked of across merchants' counters, on the street corners and in bar-rooms. We trust the "fool-killer" will not be released just now. If he should, he would have a big job on his hands, and the next census would not show a large increase of American population in the last decade.

MORAL QUARANTINE.

Time was when the dangerous classes of England threatened to gnaw her vitals, she shipped them to Botany Bay. To-day she ships them to America. The other side of the question is, that when the artisans of Sheffield, of Manchester or of other large manufacturing centers look for homes and bread for themselves and children across the Atlantic, Societies for the prevention of Emigration immediately spring up all over the country, and nullify all attempts at colonization in the United States. Why is this? Is this country a dump for the refuse of England?

Bismarck also puts his foot on emigrating schemes. Now the question to be thought over is this: Why does England or Germany turn black in the face when plenty of work and Western homes are offered to their working classes, and at the same time smile on the efforts of Utah scavengers who scrape the purlieus of London, Edinburgh, Dublin and Berlin for the dregs of humanity and empty them by ship loads on our already reeking shores? The most loathsome ulcer ripening under the sun to-day, and which threatens to infect the whole body socially, is not Kearneyism, not Liberalism, not Communism, but Mormonism.

Salt Lake is the Botany Bay of England. It is the city of the plains, the Sodom and Gomorrah of the nineteenth century. Year after year in the teeth of protests issued by our representatives abroad, the most worthless, ignorant and dangerous classes, who at home subsist only on the proceeds of crime—are brought to this country under the pretense of religion. They are brought to these shores with all their ignorance, with all their debased ideas of morality and obligations to society with all their developed propensities for crime and are settled down in our midst, one day or another to swell the annals of crime; to swell the ranks of the New York, the Chicago and the St. Louis Communists, one day or another to be a millstone around the neck of our National Government, smuggled rags and clothing infected with yellow fever germs to Northern ports during the rebellion, a cry of horror went up from all civilized peoples; but worse than fever germ is planted here monthly from the morally infected lazardus of the old world. Have we not enough of such material? Let there be a quarantine. Let the public opinion be heard, the letters of our representatives in foreign lands and the protests of our Government be respected.

HERE AND THERE.

James Gordon Bennett's income is $1,500 a day.

General Franz Sigel has taken charge of a new Liberal German paper to be started in Newark, N. J.

Several of Messrs. Sankey and Bliss' hymns are to be translated into the vernacular in India.

Francis D. Moulton, who came into prominence during the Beecher trial, has been suspended from the New York Produce Exchange, for "conduct inconsistent with the great and equitable principles of trade."

The ex-Khedive's dinner and breakfast service cost $4,595,000.

Boston is to celebrate her 250th anniversary next year.

The census enumerators next year are to do their work in June, and the pay is not to exceed $100 per month, or $4 per day.

A man dying recently in St. Louis, left $1,000 to an individual who, years ago, ran away with his wife. He said in his will that he never forgot a favor.

A young lady at a certain place in Wayne county, Penn., asked the prayers of the congregation, because she could not set eyes upon a certain young man without feeling as though she must hug him to death. She got 'em.

There are 46,000,000 of acres in Kansas now open for preemption under the United States homestead laws or purchase from various railroad companies.

The Texas bell-punch law has closed a great many saloons in that State.

According to official data the total number of the Hebrew race to-day is about what it was in the days of King David—between six and seven millions. There are in Europe about 5,000,000, in Asia 200,000, in Africa over 80,000 and in America from a million to a million and a half. The present population of Jerusalem is given as 13,500 Jews, 7,000 Mohammedans and 5,000 Christians.

The Boston Advertiser hits off Butler's triple alliance in the following stanza:

'Gainst the triple convention don't say a harsh word;
For who would begrudge a poor widow her third?
If her ambition's height be a third nomination,
The best way to reach it is by triangulation.

The ten orphaned children of Gen. Hood are now under the care of their grandmother, Mrs. Eleanor Hennen. Their names and ages are as follows: Ethel and Amabel, twins, nine years old; John Bell, seven years; Duane Hennen, six years; Lillian and Marian, twins, five years; Orlie and Ida, twins, three years; Oswald, four years; and Anna Gertrude, two months old.

"Is there a letter here in a scented envelope for my wife?" he asked the postmaster, while the green fire from his eyes made the office look like a leafy forest. "Yes, sir," answered the P. M., as he handed it out. The jealous man tore it open at once, when, lo! and behold! it was the milliner's bill for $50.

The following is said to be the manner in which General Grant and General McDowell greeted each other on the deck of the Tokio: Grant, with both hands extended, said, "How are you, Mac?" McDowell, a little choky, said, "How are you, old boy?"

The youngest managing editor in the country is probably Walter Hutchins of the Washington Post.

The Republicans of Virginia are going to vote against repudiation. Their motto is, "Once a debt, always a debt until paid." Tennessee Republicans too.

The Boston Times says: "A good stiff ramrod applied firmly to the spinal column of Mr. George William Curtis would vastly increase that gentleman's value as a statesman."

SUPREME COURT OPINIONS.

[Reported for the Chronicle, by L. Tillman, Jr.]
Receiver not allowed, when—in a contest over the title to land, the possession will not ordinarily be disturbed by the appointment of a receiver pending the litigation, especially if the person in possession has the legal title or undivided right of possession to an undivided part of the land; and the burden being upon the applicant for a receiver to make out a strong showing of justly interference, an affidavit by a solicitor on information and belief is insufficient.
Davis et al. vs. Reaves et al.—Cooper, J.
Ejectment—Evidence—Judgment

must be produced.—A purchaser at Sheriff's sales of land levied upon by a Justice's execution in this county, based upon a certified execution from another county, and sold under the provisions of the code, § 3073, must, in order to sustain an action of ejectment for the recovery of the land, produce the judgment on which the certified execution issued.
Gilepie vs. Budgett—Cooper, J.
Verdict general—when good.—A general verdict of "guilty in manner and form," as charged in the indictment, is good, where the indictment contains only one count charging a larceny of property of less value than ten dollars, and the punishment assessed is within the limit which the jury may assess for petit larceny.
Wright vs. the State—Cooper, J.
Special Judge, by consent—A verdict not competent in criminal case—A verdict and judgment rendered against a defendant on the trial of a criminal case before a Special Judge selected from the members of the bar, by consent of parties, the regular Judge being incompetent, are void, and the case will be remanded for a trial de novo.
Neil vs. the State—Cooper, J.
Misdemeanor—motion necessary to conviction, when the recent statutes (acts 1879, chap. 86) it was necessary, in order to the conviction of a person for wounding any beast, the property of another for misdemeanor, that malice against the owner be proved.
Cook vs. the State—Cooper, J.
Grand Jury—Inquisitorial power not possessed.—Grand Jurors have no power to send for witnesses when a violation of law by the disturbance of a legitimate assembly is suspected.
The State vs. Adams—Deaderick, C. J.
Public officer—Liability of.—The Clerk of a Court who has, under his official title, deposited monies of his office in a bank, together with monies of his own, without any designation of the cases, or party entitled, will be permitted to set off such deposit against a claim of the assignee of the bank (though insolvent) held against him individually.

2. There can scarcely be a doubt that in such case the addition of the official title would be merely descriptive of the person.
Comfort, Assignee, vs. Patterson, Cooper, J.
Manslaughter for officer to kill.—If a prisoner charged, or convicted of a misdemeanor, attempt escape from the officer, and the latter shoot and kill the prisoner, it will be manslaughter.
Keybolds vs. the State—McFarland, J.
[NOTE: The opinion in this case should be published for the information of executors of the law. The Judge calls attention to the erroneous news prevailing as to an officer's powers.]

Among the Relics.

We had the pleasure of examining some of the old relics which have been entered for the Centennial Exhibition. We mention a plate from which George Washington was accustomed to dine at Lancaster Inn, Virginia. This plate is supposed to be 200 years old. It is now the property of Mrs. John Fuhrer, of this county, who is a descendant of John and Rebecca Helm, of Lancaster, Virginia. Tea spoons supposed to be at least two hundred years old accompany the plate.

A number of entries have been made, and the prospect is favorable for a grand display of old and curious things. Our people do not know how rich East Tennessee is in old relics. Much of the early history of the State pertains to this section. The first abolition paper ever issued in the United States was published in Greeneville, Tennessee. The paper was afterwards published in Jonesboro', Tennessee. The first paper to advocate the building of railroads in the United States was published at Rogersville, Tenn. Col. Moses White, of Knoxville, will have copies of these on exhibition. We deem it inexpedient to mention other interesting relics which will be on exhibition. Our advice is, come and see them and learn more of the history of Tennessee in one day than can be gathered in a whole year's reading. It will not be advisable to put off your visit till the last day. Every day will be interesting.

Prof. W. H. Perkins returned to his home to-day. We are sorry to see him in ill health. For several years he has been closely confined to the school room, and labors incident to teaching have been too great for his physical strength. Prof. Perkins is one of our best young men—a fine scholar and an eminently successful teacher.

Chancery Sale of a Valuable House and Lot.

No. 7194.
JOS. E. NORMAN, Adm'r. ac. vs. Wm. Lawton, et al.

PURSUANT TO AN INTERLOCUTORY DECREE pronounced in the above case at the June Term, 1879, of the Chancery Court at Knoxville, Tenn., I will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, in front of the court house door in Knoxville, on SATURDAY, the 15TH DAY OF OCTOBER, 1879, at 11 O'CLOCK A. M., the house and lot mentioned and described in the pendency, lying in the 12th civil district of Knox county, Tennessee, being lot No. 55, in Mother's addition to the city of Knoxville, 5 feet on Richards street and running back westwardly 180 feet to an alley.

Said sale will be made upon a credit of six, twelve, eighteen and twenty-four months, taking from the purchaser sum of twelve hundred and fifty dollars, and retaining a lien as a further security. This September 15th, 1879, at 11 O'CLOCK A. M.

Special Rates for the Presidential Campaign.

The Whig and Chronicle in Reach of Every-body.

Fourteen Months for the Price of One Year.

From now until November, 1880, will be one of the most exciting periods in the political history of this Republic. On the 15th day of next month, the people of Ohio will elect a Governor and other State officers. Heretofore, parties have been very evenly divided there, which, together with the important influence which the result is to have upon the great Presidential contest of next year, gives the contest a national interest, and its decision will be regarded with deep concern in every nook and corner of the Union. Two strong tickets are in the field, and the battle is being waged with a vigor which shows that each party fully appreciates the prize for which they are striving.

In November, the great State of New York will elect a Governor, State officers and a Legislature. This too is a contest of the highest national importance. The Democrats for several years have been in the ascendancy there, but they are now disturbed by internal dissensions, which, together with the disadvantage at which they are placed by being held responsible for the policy inaugurated by their leaders in Congress, gives the Republicans great encouragement.

This, together with a thorough conviction of the righteousness of their cause, inspires them with courage and confidence, and they are determined to contest every inch of the ground with that resolute purpose which animates true and tried soldiers fighting for the dearest and most cherished principles. The result in that State will be looked to all over the Nation with an interest never before felt in a State election. The giants of both political parties, all over the Nation, will take part in the contest and the issues involved will be able and thoroughly discussed.

Elections will also be held in November, in Iowa, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Minnesota, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania. In each of these States the two great political parties will put forth their best efforts, and results will be looked to with extraordinary interest.

On the first Monday in December Congress meets again, and the session promises to be one of extraordinary interest. The leaders will contend with each other for the vantage ground upon which to make the great political fight of next year, when a President is to be elected and a new Congress to be chosen. Every man who feels any interest in politics will desire to watch every step of the preliminary struggle.

Already intense interest is manifested in the Presidential struggle of 1880. Both parties are on the alert, wide awake to take advantage of whatever the leaders may imagine to be conducive to their party success. Early next summer the National Conventions will be held, and full tickets placed in the field. When the work of canvassing will be begun with a vigor never surpassed in any similar contest in the history of Presidential elections. Never before has a greater interest been felt in the result of a national election, so far in advance of the time at which it is to be held, than now exists.

In addition to the national issues, around which will centre so much of public interest, in Tennessee we will have a State election next fall. Without any sort of exaggeration, this will be the most important of any ever held in the State. The repudiation wing, which is a majority of the Democratic party, is marshalling its hosts for a final charge against the credit, honor, integrity and good name of the Volunteer State. If they succeed, we are ruined and disgraced. They propose to place in the field a full ticket for Governor and members of the Legislature, composed of men committed to the policy of repudiating a large proportion of the State debt. They will be met by the State credit men, Democrats and Republicans, who will make a desperate effort to be made to rescue Tennessee from the control of those who would bring upon her everlasting ruin and irretrievable disgrace. No Tennessee man can fail to feel a deep interest in the result of our next State election.

In view of these interesting political events, every intelligent man in the Union will read regularly at least one live, reliable political newspaper. Such will make the DAILY CHRONICLE and the WEEKLY WHIG AND CHRONICLE. We intend that our readers shall know all about the important political events of the day, and, in addition, we expect to take an active part in the discussion of all the issues involved. Our political intelligence shall be reliable, and our position on all questions thoroughly understood. We will wear no man's yoke, will be the organ of no particular ring or clique, but expect to labor for the success of Republican principles with a zeal inspired by the earnest conviction that we are right.

While we shall keep our readers fully posted on political questions, we will also continue to devote a large share of our space to agricultural, educational, religious, scientific, literary, industrial and commercial intelligence, giving something in each issue that will interest readers of every avocation and profession, and all ages, sexes and conditions in life. We will give each week a carefully prepared report of the local and metropolitan markets, making them so full and reliable as to be indispensable to business men, farmers and mechanics.

And now to place the WHIG AND CHRONICLE within the reach of all we propose to send it up to and including the 15th day of November, 1880, which will give time for the receipt of the returns of the Presidential election, for the price of one year's subscription, ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS. Any one sending us ten subscribers under this proposition will receive a copy of the paper free until November 14, 1880.

Or, we will send the WHIG AND CHRONICLE until the first of January, 1880, for the price of one year, eight DOLLARS. We will send the DAILY CHRONICLE until the 15th day of November, 1880, for the price of one year, eight DOLLARS. In all instances the cash to accompany names.

These are unprecedentedly low rates, and affords a rare opportunity for keeping up with the news of the times for a very small outlay of means. Send the names at once, so that you may not lose an issue. Send postal money order, draft, by registered letter or by express, at our risk.
